

Hello everybody and Happy New Year to you all!!

(https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZaEdZxPsYFk&list=RDZaEdZxPsYFk&start_radio=1&t=11)

I hope you all had a good Christmas despite everything going on in the world and that so far 2021 has been kind to you.

I was wondering whether to re-start these emails, however, as we find ourselves once more in a lockdown, and unable to meet in person I decided to continue for now. Please do let me know though if you'd rather be removed and I can amend the list no problem.

Here are some music suggestions that may be appropriate for tomorrow Sunday 10th January 2021. I am using numbers in the orange book in case you want to sing along.

We, like everyone I am sure, had a quiet Christmas with doorstep gift drops to our parents and then dinner at home just the 4 of us. We all enjoyed having some time off together and it was nice to relax away from work and school together for a couple of weeks.

The girls have settled back well now and first week of home school and office for me is done and Tom is back at the hospital. Our evenings are being filled with making harry potter models which the girls were lucky enough to get for Christmas gifts and also having a go at macrame...another craft I fear is beyond my skill set but we are giving our best shot at ha ha!

Every year since graduation as many of my university housemates as possible and I have met in London for an afternoon tea at this time of year....obviously that wasn't possible however this morning we had a zoom catch up and for the first time in 20 years we were all together again as friends dialed in from Wales and Northern Ireland as well as around the country and even from Australia. A positive to come out of our new lockdown skillset and a lovely morning spent reminiscing and laughing and drinking tea together all be it from our respective living rooms.

I hope you are all keeping safe and well and managing to stay positive. We are thinking of you all as always and send you lots of love

From Sarah and all the family xxxx
