I hope you have had a good week, we were lucky to be able to visit Baddesley Clinton Nation Trust last weekend and had a lovely walk around the gardens there, lovely to get some late summer sunshine! The girls have also settled down to school although getting homework again on top of school is a bit of a culture shock after so long away in lockdown!

It was really good to be able to sing a little in church last week at Merevale and we hope to gradually be able to introduce a little more as restrictions allow. Obviously a moving picture but we will be doing our best and I will be in touch with any further details.

Sending lots of love and hoping to see you soon
